

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION

1923 • 100 YEARS OF GREAT GOLF! • 2023

Country Club of Ashland Becomes a Reality in 1923

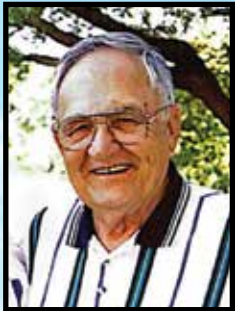

Willie Park, Jr.
Course Architect

In 1921 five prominent businessmen had the vision to bring the game of golf to Ashland as they purchased 140 acres of farm land south of the city as the golf course site. It did not take long to secure world famous golf architect Willie Park, Jr. to design a beautiful nine hole course called the Country Club of Ashland that opened in the spring of 1923. The reputation of a great golf course with many club house amenities quickly made CC of A a “must membership.” “The Club” provided excellent meals and social entertainment for eight decades. In 1958 a new swimming pool was opened and in 1973 the second nine holes was designed and built. Members enjoyed the great music of Jimmy Dorsey, Glenn Miller, and Maynard Ferguson. Dave Marr, Arnold Palmer, and Lee Trevino highlighted special players in the '70's.

As corporations left Ashland, memberships declined dramatically and the difficult decision was made to sell CC of A in 2011.

2011 brought many new changes to the popular private golf club as new local investors purchased the facility. Renovation plans were quickly finalized with the demolition of the club house and the building of a new pro shop and restaurant called Shank's along with the new name of Ashland Golf Club. The word quickly spread to golfers throughout Ohio that the opportunity to play a public course in “country club shape”, and at reasonable prices, brought many new golfers to Ashland. With a dedicated staff led by Tim Haag and the hiring of Dennis North as the club pro/manager in 2015 AGC has become a favorite place for both local and out-of-town players. The reputation of a fair and challenging course has brought many prestigious state tournaments and traveling leagues each season. This 100 year favorite course of gorgeous trees, lined fairways and well manicured greens makes it a delight to play for any golfer.
